POSTHUMOUS REPORT FROM COUNT FOLKE

Murdered Mediator Urges United Nations Step In To End War In Palestine

ARAB REGIME NAMED

Paris, Sept. 20.—(P)—A posthumous report by the murdered Count Folke Bernadotte, declares the United Nations should step in to end the Palestine war if the Arabs and Jews fail to make peace. The mediator wrote that "Israel exists in Palestine," and the future of Arab Palestine should be left to the Arab states, "in full consultation with the Arab inhabitants of the Holy Land."

His 35,000-word report was distributed to the 58 U. N. member states as his body and that of French Lt. Col. Andre Pierre Serot were being flown home.

It was tentatively planned to hold a memorial service at Paris' Orly field. After receiving homage from high United Nations and French officials, Bernadotte's body would be flown to Stockholm.

Amman, Trans-Jordan, Sept. 20.—(P)—Over the strong protests of Trans-Jordan and Iraq, the Arab league announced formation today of an Arab government for Palestine.

Ahmed Humei Pasha, military governor of the Arab-held section of Jerusalem, was appointed prime minister of the new government, an official announcement was said, despite a declaration by King Abdullah of Trans-Jordan that such a government would amount to partitioning Palestine.

The Arabs have fought against partition ever since the beginning, he said. King Abdullah refused to permit formation of the government "within the security zone of the Trans-Jordan government, which extends from the Egyptian kingdom's frontiers, to the frontiers of Syria and Lebanon."

Abdullah's declaration thus brought to a head long-simmering differences over the formation of an Arab government for Palestine. Abdullah has been pictured seated in a chair, government an effort by the Mufti of Jerusalem to carve out a base of power for himself in Palestine.

Renewed shelling in the old city of Jerusalem combined to make this one of the tensest moments since the truce began last July 18.

Strikes Idle Thousands in The Country

By The Associated Press

Labor disputes involving automobile workers in Detroit and maritime and oil workers on the west coast continued today. But in New York the ranks of striking truck drivers declined, and a threatened bus strike was averted. In Missouri, 4,000 lead miners ended a 10-week strike.

A dispute between the Briggs Manufacturing Co., and 170 of its plant guards kept 60,000 other automobile industry employees idle.

The Detroit firm rejected a UAW-CIO settlement proposal as the strike entered its 13th day, it charged the UAW with "guilt by a 'wildcat strike' in refusing to work."

Among other developments: Printers—At Indianapolis Judge Luther M. Swygert began hearing in federal court an NLRB charge that the AFL Printers' union had violated an injunction against violating the Taft-Hartley act in the week Chicago and Hammond, Ind., newspaper strikes. The union denies the charges.

Maritime—CIO Stevedores prepared to move army charges at full speed tomorrow for the first time since the CIO Longshoremen's strike.

Three Major Candidates To Campaign In Pennsylvania

Harrisburg, Sept. 20.—(P)—The three major candidates for President will give pivotal Pennsylvania their personal attention during the 1948 political campaign.

The Keystone State's big bloc of 33 electoral votes—traditionally Republican until the Roosevelt era—is the magnet that will draw them into the commonwealth for major campaign speeches.

The attraction of that bloc was underlined on Saturday. Sen. Alben W. Barkley (D-Ky.), Democratic candidate for vice president, went to Wilkes-Barre to ding-bats at GOP tax cutters in Congress.

Republican, meanwhile, heard Senator McClellan Ferguson (R-Mich.) at McClure call for immediate prosecution of Communists in government.

Already President Truman has made two appearances in Pennsylvania during train stops on trips west. Governor Thomas E. Dewey, of New York, is promising

Dewey Speeds to Des Moines For Speech Tonight as Pres. Truman Heads Toward Denver

By The Associated Press

Colorado Democratic leaders today gave President Truman "a fighting chance" to carry the state, saying farmers are uneasy as to what Republicans might do about farm price supports.

Mr. Truman got this word from Governor Lee Knous and Senator Edwin Johnson as his campaign special carried him to the state for his second major speech of his western tour.

Also heading west, Mr. Truman's Republican rival in the presidential race, Thomas E. Dewey, told a group of Latin Americans that he hopes their countries and ours will progress as full partners.

The American republics, he observed, are joined against aggression and in condemning "the aims and methods of international Communism."

He read his formal statement to a delegation of a dozen from the inter-American council of commerce and production meeting at Chicago. They met his special train there.

Riding westward in the same private, railroad car used in his 1944 personal appearance tour, the Republicans' star scanned the curtain raiser speech scheduled to-night (9 to 9:30 p. m. EST) in Des Moines, Iowa.

There he is expected to sketch the broad outline of the program he thinks the voters will approve in November.

They already have viewed the rival production put on by President Truman in his bid to retain the nation's No. 1 rating.

The Democratic chief train headed for Denver today for the second go-round of his 100-talk trip to the Pacific coast and return.

Both men also sought to rally vote approval of their party candidates for the congressional show.

Gov. Earl Warren, Dewey's running mate, meanwhile headed into Oklahoma where another hot senatorial battle is shaping up.

Truman Charges G.O.P. With Attempt To Sabotage West

Aboard Truman Campaign Train, Sept. 20.—(P)—President Truman moved into Colorado today for what one of his top level advisors said was a "mean and tough" speech at Denver on conservation.

His associate, who asked that his name not be used, said Mr. Truman would use some of the sharpest language of his campaign in criticism of what he will call Republican obstruction of public power, reclamation and irrigation projects.

His Denver speech—the second major address of his current 9,500-mile western bid for re-election—was set for 3 p. m. from the grounds of the capitol.

It was to be among at least seven talks during a day almost as strenuous as his 14-speech campaign Saturday from Rock Island, Ill., across Iowa and into Missouri during which he took his election plea to thousands of voters.

Mr. Truman himself estimated he spoke to from 100,000 to 110,000 farmers at Dexter, Ia., at the site of the national plowing match and said his total audience for his dawn to darkness tour ran into several hundred thousand.

He started out fresh today after a restful Sunday at his home at Independence, Mo. He said he was feeling prime and that his throat was better.

It still had a touch of huskiness that developed late Saturday from constant talking.

High Grid Stars of Twenty Years Ago Back On Stage

Warren High School's grid giants of two decades—the untied, undefeated 1928 squad—were called back on stage for more bows and applause when the annual Homecoming Celebration was held here over the weekend under the auspices of the Sports Boosters Association of Warren.

The Homecoming festivities were held in conjunction with Warren High's football clash with Franklin High on War Memorial Field in Lexington avenue. The 1948 Dragons, piloted by Coach J. B. Leidig, who was mentor for the great 1928 squad, played their Homecoming role as a way of honoring Franklin, 25-0.

A stag smoker at the Marconi Outing Club Friday night opened the weekend program honoring the 1928 squad. Don McComas was master of ceremonies for an informal program that included a number of selections by the Every-Knighters barbershop quartet, comprised of Howard Johnson, Arthur McDonald, Stewart Nelson and William Duff, and a piano solo, "12th Street Rag," played at the request of the 1948 Dragons by George Johnson.

Dr. J. Russell Elliott, president of the Sports Boosters, extended greetings to the 1928 lettermen and squad members and other guests. An official picture of the 1928 squad was taken, with two members of another great Warren team, that of 1892, joining in.

They were Postmaster J. K. Bell and Bill Hartman. Head Coach J. B. Leidig and Assistant Harry Hutchings also extended their greetings.

The master of ceremonies then introduced Ange Bevevino, captain of the 1928 squad, who in turn presented the lettermen, student managers and class president for that year. A wire recording of broadcast Saturday was made of a portion of the proceedings by Leroy Schneick, WNAE "roving microphone reporter."

Letters from four members of the 1928 squad who were unable to be present for the reunion were read. The four were Kay Burns, of Newark, N. J.; Kelly Mowbray and Bernard Dennig of Baltimore; and Richard Dase of Aruba, Dutch West Indies.

A buffet lunch concluded the evening's program.

ISRAEL ACTS TO RESTRAIN STERN GROUP

Acting U. N. Mediator Is Informed 150 of Gang Involved in Assassination Arrested

CENSORSHIP AIRTIGHT

Tel Aviv, Israel, Sept. 20.—(P)—Israel adopted emergency regulations last night to deal with terrorist organizations and took first steps to smash the Stern gang, accused of assassinating Count Folke Bernadotte.

Israeli Foreign Minister Moshe Shertok informed Dr. Ralph J. Bunche, acting United Nations mediator for Palestine, that 150 members of the Stern group—accused of assassinating Count Bernadotte, U. N. mediator for Palestine, and French Lt. Col. Andre Pierre Serot, U. N. observer, Friday in Jerusalem—had been arrested in Tel Aviv and elsewhere.

(Israeli officials in Jerusalem said nearly 200 known Sternists had been seized and packed off to Jaffa for dispersal into the Israeli army. Despite airtight censorship, several prize catches were understood to be among those arrested.

They were said to include the Stern gang's second in command, known widely as "Abu Mimri." A police source said a young Jew believed to have been the driver of the jeep used in ambushing the Bernadotte party also was held.

At least two Jewish newspapers were arrested. The Israeli official said they believe the arrests were a staggering blow at the Stern group.

(A Stockholm dispatch said Bernadotte's funeral will be held Sunday in historic Gustav Vasa church.)

Shertok informed Bunche "vigorous investigations are proceeding to probe deeper into the mystery of the crime and discover the real culprits" in the assassination. He announced that all suspects will be paraded before eye witnesses of the assassination.

"There seems to be little doubt," he said, "that the group calling itself 'Hast' Homestead—the 'base' of the Stern group—which has acknowledged authorship of the crime, is an army of the dissident organization, fighters for the freedom of Israel (Stern-founded political party)."

Mivrat, the newspaper founded by Stern leaders, carried a front-page pronouncement yesterday by the central committee of the Fighters for the Freedom of Israel (F. F. I.) denouncing the "base" of the Stern group.

It said the "base" of the Stern group, Premier David Ben-Gurion's "delegates" had begun on "illegal" roundup of Jerusalem members of the party "12 hours after the Bernadotte incident." The newspaper demanded their release.

John H. Graney, director of the Political Action Committee in Erie, termed the 80th congress "adoptive congress" although it had made many promises to do something about the housing situation which confronts the returning veterans. "They soon forget the soldiers when they come home and take off their uniforms," he asserted.

He concluded with the plea that every voter go to the polls in November, when 60,000,000 registered voters can safely insure President Truman's re-election.

Another familiar local figure and former congressman, E. H. Beshlin, expressed his intense interest in the current campaign and his belief that there is no reason for making a change in the national administration.

Topping the list of speakers for the afternoon was Ramsey E. Cook, state treasurer and candidate for auditor general. His address, reminding his listeners that there are as well as national questions involved in this year's election, will be published in full in Tuesday's issue.

Prominent Democratic party workers from nearby counties attended the rally including W. H. Fix, chairman in Crawford county; Calvin Dunlap, Meadville; and president of the Crawford county Young Democrats, with his wife; George A. McClain, Kane, representative in general assembly; Michael J. Crosetto, Galeton, state committeeman from Potter county.

PLAN FOR RUSSIA TO PULL OUT OF KOREA

Moscow, Sept. 20.—(P)—Russia will pull all her troops out of northern Korea by the new year, an official statement said last night.

The announcement indicated the withdrawal of Soviet troops from the Far Eastern trouble spot apparently will be unconditional, although it called on the United States to move American troops out of southern Korea.

The news agency Tass announced the decree of the presidium (executive) of the Supreme Soviet.

The Russian move caused surprise in American diplomatic circles, where some diplomats predicted the Soviets would not actually carry out the plan unless the Americans evacuate their area of Korea.

Bryn Mawr, Sept. 20.—(P)—The Godfrey Anderson Rockefeller were nonevenerable today. Rockefeller, a great grandnephew of the late John D. Rockefeller, was married to Constance Vanclan Hamilton in a fashionable ceremony Saturday in the Church of the Redeemer here. Rockefeller is a son of Godfrey Stillman Rockefeller of Greenwich, Conn.

His father is a son of the late William C. Rockefeller. The bride is a niece of Miss Anne Vauclan, of Rosemont.

Floats, Marching Units and Industrial Trucks Wanted For Penn'a Week Parade Sept. 25th

Reports received at a meeting of the Warren County Pennsylvania Week committee held Saturday evening at seven o'clock in the VFW Post rooms revealed the surprising fact that communities outside of the borough are showing more interest in entering more floats than are industries and business establishments in Warren.

While the main item of business at the meeting was the signing of a contract for a forty-minute display of fireworks, the Jaycee committee, in charge of securing entries for the parade, report that floats, decorated trucks and other entries have been received from Luttrell, Youngsville, Sheffield, Russellville, Sugar Grove and other communities, but there has been a surprising and disappointing lack of interest on the part of Warren industries to enter units, although they have been generous in supporting the project in a financial way.

The fireworks display will be as large as any detonated in Warren in many years. The contract provides for a welcoming set piece to open the exhibit, followed by forty minutes of continuous bombing, during which time there will be salutes or bombs in the air every fifteen seconds. The display will be brought to Warren by two experts from the Atlantic Fireworks Company, at New Castle, who will have charge of setting it off, assisted by a committee of which Howard Truister is chairman.

The committee was informed that not over a dozen floats and trucks have been entered from Warren borough proper, in spite of a week's work on the part of the members contacting local industries and business men. The Jaycees spent a busy weekend on the project, and it is expected and hoped that the list will be much longer when reports are received again Tuesday evening. It was explained that many who had been contacted had stated they were withholding decision, and definite word would be received later.

Those in charge are hopeful that favorable reports will be received from all such contacts.

Because of the nature of the celebration, the appeal is renewed that all local industries arrange to be represented in some manner in the parade, in order to publicize Warren made goods.

The committee is anxious to have every industry in the county represented in the parade, even if such entry is only a truck carrying some product made in the plant. Decorated floats are desired, but industrial trucks will be very acceptable.

It was also revealed that local organizations have been slow to list marching units, although many decisions are still awaiting discussion among officers of many groups. A check is being made today of both floats and marching units.

The committee received a report that "Slip" King is arranging for an "aerial parade" in the skies over Warren during the progress (Turn to Page Seven)

Warren Co. Campaign Opens With Rally at Outing Club Attended By Crowd of 1,000

Getting into the swing of a nationwide political campaign led by President Harry S. Truman's cross-country tour, the Warren county Democratic committee reports it had a turnout of approximately 1,000 persons for the rally held Sunday at the Marconi Outing Club.

Headlined by party candidates and workers, the program included speeches, a basket picnic, dinner served at the club, games, refreshments and a half-hour broadcast over Station WNAE from 2:30 until three o'clock.

John Hanna, county chairman, opened the program by presenting Mrs. E. O. Pequinot, of Tidolite, a state committeewoman and the worker to whom had been assigned the task of introducing the various speakers.

First heard was William McGuckin, local candidate for the state assembly, who expressed his thanks and appreciation for the honor shown him and promised to do his utmost to benefit the county and the commonwealth.

Francis J. Manno, Johnsonburg, candidate for representative in congress from the 19th district, added a humorous touch in his assertion that President Truman may be right in saying the present congress is the worst in history, at least it is the worst in the young candidate's recollection.

Many in the audience were pleased with the opportunity of again greeting Dennis J. Driscoll, St. Marys, former congressman, who recalled it was exactly 12 years ago Sunday he attended a similar gathering at the Outing Club. He congratulated the committee on the success of its arrangements for the present affair.

His address dealt principally with the campaign of young Manno. He remarked that he had known Manno all his life and the only thing his opponents had brought up against him was his long absence from the district. "What better reasons could he have," Mr. Driscoll queried, "than his record of 63 months of service with the armed forces in the Pacific, the Mediterranean, Italy and France?"

John H. Graney, director of the Political Action Committee in Erie, termed the 80th congress "adoptive congress" although it had made many promises to do something about the housing situation which confronts the returning veterans. "They soon forget the soldiers when they come home and take off their uniforms," he asserted.

He concluded with the plea that every voter go to the polls in November, when 60,000,000 registered voters can safely insure President Truman's re-election.

MOTOR BIKES CRASH HEAD-ON INTO AUTO

Brownsville, Sept. 20.—(P)—William Dwyer, 16, of Brownsville was killed and three companions injured last night as their motor bikes collided head-on with an auto near Brownsville.

Brownsville police said two boys were on each motor bike, riding parallel on the highway, when they collided with the auto on a curve.

The injured were taken to Brownsville hospital. Ronald Hone, 15, was reported in critical condition. Dolores Whitlow, 14, and a sister, Chesnick, 14, were reported in fair condition.

TOP ADVISERS ON GERMANY ON THE SCENE

Expected That Berlin Crisis May Be Laid Before 58 Nations at an Early Meeting

MARSHALL IN PARIS

Paris, Sept. 20.—(P)—American, British and French foreign ministers met tonight to debate what to do next in their quarrel with Russia over blocked Berlin.

Paris, Sept. 20.—(P)—Secretary-General Trygve Lie will demand urgent formation of a United Nations Guard to forestall such acts as the assassination of Count Folke Bernadotte and to maintain order in disturbed areas.

As soon as possible after the 58 nations delegates assemble tomorrow, the U. N. administrative chief will ask for a United Nations constabulary of from 1,000 to 5,000 men backed by "the full authority of the United Nations."

U. S. Secretary of State Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Ernest Bevin have both arrived for tomorrow's opening. Problems arising out of the tense situation in Berlin and other factors in the cold war between east and west overshadowed the conference.

A meeting of the three western foreign ministers, Marshall, Bevin and Robert Schuman of France, was expected with the possibility that the Berlin crisis may be laid before the 58 nations.

Both Bevin and Marshall will have their top advisers on Germany with them by tonight. Berlin dispatches said American military Governor Gen. Lucius Clay will fly to Paris to report to Marshall this afternoon. His British Colleague, Gen. Sir Brian Robertson is going to confer with Bevin.

They will be joined in the French capital by W. Bedell Smith, U. S. ambassador to Russia, Moscow dispatches said, and Frank Roberts, Britain's special envoy who has been participating in talks with the Soviets on the future of Berlin.

In his annual report to the general assembly, Trygve Lie said a U. N. constabulary would have "greatly increased the effectiveness of the work of the Security Council, and have saved many lives, particularly in Indonesia and Palestine."

Marshall arrived at 9 a. m. (4 a. m. Eastern Standard Time). He and his party arrived at Orly field in President Truman's plane. The Independence, after an uneventful 15 hour and 50-minute flight from Washington.

An announcement from Moscow that U. S. Ambassador Walter Bedell Smith and probably the British and French envoys to the Kremlin four power talks on east-west differences will come to Paris gave rise to immediate speculation that the Berlin issue may be brought before the general assembly.

Another possibility is that Marshall may hold conferences here in another attempt to solve the Berlin crisis.

The U. S. embassy in Moscow announced that Ambassador Smith will leave tomorrow for Paris to consult with Secretary Marshall. A dispatch from Berlin said Gen. Sir Brian Robertson, U. S. military governor for Germany, was to leave for the French capital this afternoon to give Secretary Marshall an up-to-the-minute report on the Berlin crisis.

The assembly faces a long list of harsh political problems growing out of the cold war between east and west.

The most difficult problem before the assembly probably will be the current situation in Berlin that the United States, Britain and France had been attempting, so far in vain, to settle through secret negotiations with Russia.

Three of the Big Four foreign ministers were in Paris for the opening session. The latest word from Moscow, however, indicated (Turn to Page Seven)

Two Die In Plane CRASH AT EDINBORO

Edinboro, Sept. 20.—(P)—Robert Oberlander, 26 of R. D. 4, Erie, and Robert H. Bauschard, 24, of Erie, were killed yesterday as their small airplane crashed in a field five miles west of Edinboro.

Deputy coroner E. C. Kiehl said eye witnesses reported the plane crashed from about 500 feet altitude.

Both men were married. Bauschard's wife, a native of England, left only last month to visit her parents, taking one of the couple's two children with her.

His father is reported to have been very ill at the family home for some time and his condition has been serious for the past week.

When Sgt. Goodard's body arrives here, removal will be made to the Schoonover Funeral Home in Sugar Grove, details of services in his memory to be announced later. Military rites will be in charge of Dinsmore-Schwartz Post, 631, Veterans of Foreign Wars, of Warren.

Fed. Control of Installment Buying Is In Force Again

Washington, Sept. 20.—(P)—Federal control of installment buying returned today after an 11-month absence.

During that time the volume of time buying amounted to a record of nearly $7,500,000,000.

Some auto dealers and finance men predicted the generally stiffer terms will put the skids under premium prices for used cars and put late models beyond the reach of many families.

They reasoned: To buy a car selling for $1,800 the purchaser must pay down $600 and $80 a month for 18 months. Monthly payments alone take a fourth of the income of a $3,840 a year family. And it costs money to operate a car.

Minister Here For 15 Years Transferred to Brookville

Warren loses one minister, gains one new one, and has two returned to their parishes in appointments read at the 97th annual session of the Pittsburgh Conference, Evangelical United Brethren church, held this past week in First church, Franklin.

Rev J. C. Wygant, who has served First church here for the past 15 years will go to Brookville, succeeding Rev A. J. Kimmel, who comes to Warren. Rev J. O. Bishop is returned to Warren Salem church for his second year and Rev C. C. Van begins his second year in Clarendon.

Mr. Wygant, native of Franklin came here 15 years ago from Altoona. An active member of the Warren County Ministerial Association, he has served as its president for three different terms. He has also been an active worker in the Community Council of Week-day Religious Education, serving it as chairman for one year, and taking an active part in the establishment of these classes as part of the school work five years ago.

He has been a member of the Warren County Board of Public Assistance for eight years, and its chairman for the past several years. Another public duty came only recently when he was elected to the rent control board for Warren county. Along with his religious activities he has served for three years as chairman of the Evangelical Association of Warren and Warren County. He plans to preach his farewell sermon in First church on Sunday morning.

September 26, leaving for Brookville soon after that.

Mr. Kimmel has been in Brookville for four years. Before that, he was at Oil City for seven years, and, prior to that at Greenville and Johnstown. Plans for his final sermon will be announced later.

YOUNGSVILLE

Youngsville, Sept 17—David Wingard, Jr., and his mother drove recently to Philadelphia and returned with Miss Anna Wingard, a daughter, who will remain for a vacation at home.

U. N. NOW HAS PSYCHIATRIST

Well, the United Nations has hired a psychiatrist. Probably a good idea, suggests James Thrasher in an editorial written for NEA Service and The Times-Mirror. In fact, he says, after reading his first press interview after taking the job, we'd guess it is a very good idea.

His name is Dr. Carl F. Sulzberger, and his proper title is psychiatric consultant. He says he doesn't think it is psychiatry's function to predict the right course in international affairs. But he does believe that psychiatrists should be free to criticize the men who do make the international decisions.

"When all the high-falutin' and magical jargon of diplomacy is removed," he says, "you'll find the diplomats acting like a group of children, age 3 or 4, trying to break up one another's toys or squabbling to get closer to the ice cream dish, without a thought of one another."

A lot of people who keep up with international negotiations will find that comparison unflatteringly apt. They're also likely to agree with the doctor when he says that although these diplomats may be enlightened men, they start acting childish over any question that involves many nations. He lays it to "emotional xenophobia," a fear and distrust of the unknown or the foreign.

Dr. Sulzberger doesn't mention the Russian diplomats by name, but he must have had them in mind. Representatives of other nations may not be blameless, but the Russians have a consistent record of aggressiveness, pettiness and selfishness in international affairs that is as immature as it is dangerous. The Berlin blockade is an excellent example of such infantilism.

Dr. Sulzberger must have wondered, as many of us have, just what happened in the childhood and youth of, say, Karl Marx, Nikolai Lenin, Adolf Hitler, Benito Mussolini and Joseph Stalin that caused them to become what they did. For their thoughts and deeds did not develop in an emotionless vacuum.

A more enlightened society is beginning to seek for the subconscious causes of crimes and mental ills, rather than simply to punish or hospitalize the offenders and victims. But when crimes and delusions assume national proportions and stir up international troubles, we put them down to fate or acts of history. The fact that they may have started in some individual's thwarted childhood is overlooked.

Some day psychiatry may be able to detect and check the emotional disturbances of childhood that produce dictators as well as thieves and murderers. This will mean that there will have to be, as Dr. Sulzberger and others say there should be, psychiatrists as well as physicians in every children's health clinic.

That day is far off. But at least the new UN psychiatrist thinks that humanity is not going to wipe itself out with atomic explosives, and he hopes that some day man will not have to fight an enemy, real or imaginary, in order to get along in the world.

Meanwhile we wish Dr. Sulzberger luck in his dealings with the adult diplomats and secretariat. He sounds like a sensible person, and we hope his new patients won't hesitate to avail themselves of his assistance.

Every industry in the borough and county should be represented in some manner in Saturday's big Pennsylvania Week Parade. Business men of the area are losing a great opportunity if they fail to take advantage of such a chance to display their wares at this time. There is still time to arrange to have a float or truck in the parade. Act now, the time is getting short.

Sports Boosters officers and committees are again to be congratulated for the wonderfully successful Homecoming celebration staged Friday night and Saturday in honor of the undefeated team of 1928.

Sen. Glen Taylor, third party candidate for vice president, says he left the Democratic Party reluctantly, but that now, "I don't see myself running as a Democrat again."

We doubt that the members of the senator's former party were ever in more whole-hearted agreement with him than when he made that statement.

We are living in a breath-taking age. Jet planes have surpassed the speed of sound. And the Big Four ministers, who used to run on for unproductive weeks, agreed to disagree on the question of the Italian colonies in the record time of 13 hours and 40 minutes.

According to those in charge, more marching units are needed for Saturday's parade. It is also suggested that Women's organizations desiring to do so, may ride in cars or trucks, with banners flying the name of the unit.

Some 80 members of the High School Girl Reserve attended a reception at the YWCA for the new Girl Reserve Secretary, Miss Helen Phillips. Miss Phillips succeeded Miss Rosalie Melton as head of the Reserve unit in Warren. Kenneth Knapp, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross K. Knapp of Kane, bravely faced the swift current of the Allegheny river at Kinzua and succeeded in rescuing his baby sister after she had fallen into the water. Michael, two-year-old son of the late George Hahn, copped high honors in the McKean County Shooting Club field trials, winning the All Age Shooting Stake silver cup, the Emory cup for the best dog in the trials, and the Blue Ribbon of a dog show held in conjunction with the field trials. The first frost of the season was reported at Dutch Hill. Harold F. Joy of Warren was named manager of the Warrant Motor Sales Company in Jamestown which had the agency for Graham Paige autos. For the second time in the history of the organization, the Warren Women's Club was host to the annual convention of the Northwest District of the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs.

AFL Leather Workers Sue CIO Leaders

Merionville Express: Through their attorneys, C. Dick Cable, Bernard G. Quinn and Anthony M. Massing, on behalf of themselves and on behalf of all of the members of the United Leather Workers International Union, affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, have brought an action against George O. Pershing, Leather Workers Union of the U. S. and Canada, affiliated with CIO, and Local 485 of the International Fur and Leather Workers Union of the U. S.

The plaintiffs have brought the action for trespass for libel and claim the sum of $250,000 because of alleged derogatory statements. It is charged that the statements were made to various employees or persons connected with the West Hickory Tanning Co. The plaintiffs further charge in their action that the defendants made the statement so that the AFL group would lose all esteem and standing with the leather workers of the West Hickory Tannery.

The plaintiffs contend that such statements are false.

The action was entered with the Clerk of the Court of Common Pleas of Forest County in Tionesta late last week. Hearings at the Sept. Term, 1948, have been requested.

SHEFFIELD NEWS

Sheffield, Sept. 16—Thirty members, with Rev. and Mrs. E. D. Hulise as guests, attended the first fall meeting of the Philathea class held at the Methodist church. The committee in charge of the thirteen supper was composed of Mrs. Ruth Samuelson, Mrs. Virginia Sauter, Mrs. Hazel Samuelson and Mrs. Lou Baynes. The program committee, Ethelyn McQuire and Gladys Greenwood, conducted group singing. Mrs. Louise Blodgett, president, conducted the meeting and named her committees: Ways and means, Mrs. Lois Lewis, Mrs. Muriel Zandi, Mrs. Gladys Greenwood; cards and flowers, Mrs. Alice Rodgers; publicity, Miss Mae Swanson. The class is making plans to purchase a brass cross, candlesticks and vases for the sanctuary, with Mrs. Louise Davidson and Mrs. Shirley Farley acting on the committee. Mrs. Dorothy Weborg will see about lap trays to be used for the meetings. Two new members, Mrs. Verna DeBolt and Mrs. Doris Curtin were welcomed. Mrs. Louise Davidson will be hostess for the October meeting.

Warren Players Open 19th Season And Annual Membership Drive With Picnic

Last Friday evening at the Complanter Rod and Gun Club, 74 enthusiastic Warren Players got together to start off the new season, and really started things rolling. Our Roving Reporter submits the following account of the evening's events.

The picnic began in fitting style with a baked ham supper which satisfied everyone except those who were trying to reduce—and they resolved not to eat again before Sunday. After everyone was well filled a brief business session was devoted to the membership campaign. Dave Smith, chairman of the membership campaign committee, pointed out that in the Playhouse claims the largest membership in any civic theatre association, and that in Jamestown N. Y., the Little Theatre of Jamestown has been one of the last great theatre groups in the country, while here in Warren, the Warren Players, with their product of at least comparable quality and type, and with outstandingly low charges have lagged in building up membership.

This season, he announced, the Warren Players are going to attempt to combine several types of membership campaign in an effort to reach all possible interested parties. All of last year's members, both active and associate, being mailed several extra membership applications besides their own, with the request that they give these to friends and newcomers who would be interested in joining if they knew all the facts about the club. In addition, letters have been mailed to those who were not members last year but whose names have been suggested as people who have been suggested as people who would be interested in joining if they knew all the facts about the club. In addition, letters have been mailed to those who were not members last year but whose names have been suggested as people who would be interested in joining if they knew all the facts about the club.

This marks the first time in some years, since before the war, that the Warren Players have attempted any personal contact in connection with the membership campaign. The chairman pointed out that such contacting was definitely not solicitation, since that term applies to requests for donations primarily, whereas the Warren Players are offering five plays, competently handled by a group with a fine record of 15 years and 54 public productions behind them, at the trifling cost of 60 cents per play. To active members, there is the added opportunity to become a part of a representative group of the community, to meet and work with people that it is fun to be with.

The team captains: Joan Lavery, in the first and second wards; Sylvester Mullen, third; Jo Russo, fourth; Audrey Cramer, fifth; Betty Forsgren, sixth; Sunny Lucia, seventh ward and Pleasant township, Bea Trax, eighth and

Garden Club At Youngsville Has Interesting Meet

Youngsville, Sept. 20—Broken-straw Garden Club members gathered at the National Forge club-house for a fine dinner served at a table made very attractive with a miniature garden scene centerpiece.

Mrs. James Hamilton presided at the meeting, which opened with the roll call response of botanical names of flowers worn by members.

An invitation was read from the Broken-straw Garden Club for a meeting at Sugar Grove on September 22, Youngsville members bringing their own wishes and plans.

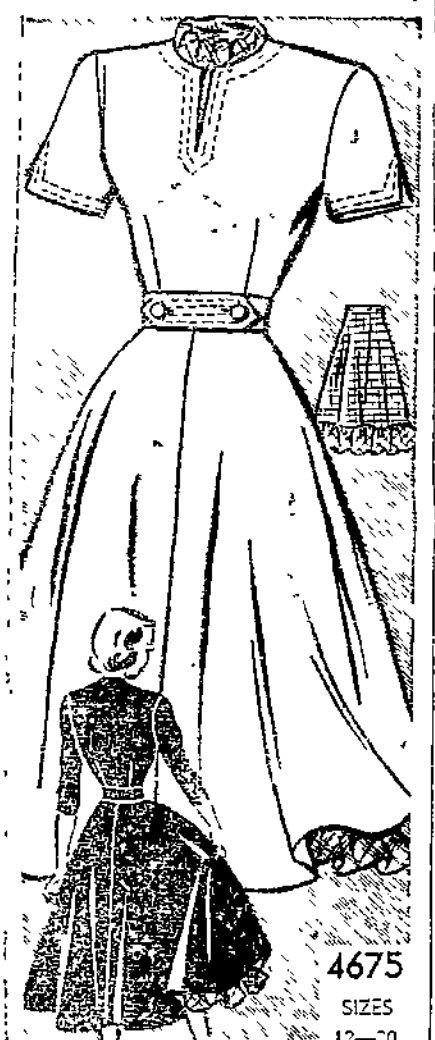

A up to date news review was given by E. C. Stollings, covering recent events around the world, with special emphasis on India and Europe. Advice on how to clean up the garden in autumn to prevent pests living over winter, and how to prevent damage in the garden was given by the club's "plant doctor," Roy McDowell. S. N. McDowell advised members on the use of the corn borer and other pests.

A committee to prepare new programs was appointed as follows: E. C. Stollings, Mr. R. C. Bailey, E. C. Stollings, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Mead and Mrs. Osgood. Anyone having suggestions for subjects to be considered or other ideas for the program is asked to communicate with some member of this committee.

Mrs. Hamilton conducted a very interesting contest for identification of both garden and wild flowers. Mrs. R. L. Mead and Mrs. Nellie Anderson being for first prize and low score held by Lee Hul.

A vote of thanks was accorded all members of the club who helped in Garden Club exhibit and with flower and vegetable exhibits for the community fair.

"Toby Tyler" Will Open PTA's Drama Season Saturday

The enduring lure of the circus is again being demonstrated as the Community PTA Council completes its arrangements to open the fall and winter season of Clara Tree Major plays with "Toby Tyler or Ten Weeks With a Circus."

The play will be given at the Library Theatre Saturday morning, starting at ten o'clock, and the younger members of the community are looking forward to the event in a dither of excitement at the prospect of seeing the fabulous characters of their beloved classic come to life before their very eyes.

Lily, the jovial Fat Woman, and her husband, Sam, the Thin Man, with hilarious Bowser and Towser, the clown, and, of course, the fascinating little monkey, Mr. Stubbs, Ella, the dainty bareback rider, Job Lord, the ice cream man and Jack Lemond vendor and all the other circus folks will be on hand to unfold James Otis' old story of Toby Tyler, the runaway boy whose adventures and misadventures with the troupe led him to return gratefully to his home—a chastened and wiser boy.

The circus background is one of the reasons attributed by Clara Tree Major, founder and director of the Children's Theatre, for the fact that "Toby Tyler" is one of the most popular plays in the repertoire her famous acting organization has presented in the 25 years of its existence.

The Clara Tree Major play committee of PTA Council reminds the youngsters and their parents that both single admissions and season tickets may be had at the theatre on Saturday morning.

Youngsville Has Pastor Welcome

Youngsville, Sept. 20—Approximately 115 members and friends of the Evangelical United Brethren church gathered in the church parlors for the reception which honored Rev. and Mrs. Harold L. Lindquist, recently returned by the Conference for another year of service in the local church.

After a delicious cooperative supper, served at tables decorated appropriately for the autumn days, the program numbers were presented.

Group singing was led by Miss Treva McKinney, and two numbers were sung by the men's chorus. The scripture reading was given by Mrs. Ann Forsberg, followed by prayer led by James Thompson. A welcome to the Lindquists was given by Harold Thompson, and boys and girls of the junior church. Additional music included a vocal solo by Paul Morris, a trombone solo by Jack Haight and a vocal duet by Marilyn Loomis and Delores Potter.

Rev. Lindquist reviewed the accomplishments of the last conference year and spoke briefly concerning future plans. After remarks by Mrs. Lindquist, the group joined in singing favorite choruses. The program closed with Mrs. Lindquist leading in prayer.

Warren High Caps Homecoming Celebration With 25-0 Triumph Over Franklin Gridders

Warren High's annual Homecoming Celebration, honoring the school's untied unbeaten 1928 football team, was climaxed in rousing fashion Saturday afternoon on War Memorial Field when the 1948 Dragons presented their counterparts of 20 years ago with a thumping 25-0 triumph over Franklin High.

The victory, second in two starts this year for the Leidigmen, also marked the first win for the locals over the Nurserymen over a four-year span.

A crowd of more than 2500 persons jammed War Memorial field for the grid battle and the Homecoming festivities which were held under the auspices of the Sports Boosters Association of Warren.

Franklin started out with a big bang, and gave every appearance of being willing and able to tie the knot in the Dragons' tail. But the Leidigmen had different ideas, and aggressive charging by the Warren forward wall and alert pass defense in the secondary made it a Warren show all the way.

Franklin sadly missed the services of their ace quarterback, Ted Marchbroda, who was on the injured list as the result of injuries received the week before against Bradford. But even if he had been able to play, it probably wouldn't have made much difference to the inspired Dragons.

The Blue and White anothered Franklin with a three-touchdown attack in the second period, and added another in the fourth period for good measure.

Kelth Vesling, Warren fullback, scored an enemy aerial on the Franklin 45 and scampered to the 10 yard stripe as the first period ended. At the outset of the second stanza, Ted Shattuck picked up four yards and then hit the line for two more. He lashed Bill Tannier, on a handoff, ripped through the Nurserymen for a first down on the 21. Vesling added a first down on the 11. Vesling made it a first down for Warren, just six yards away from the final stripe.

Tannier again was the ball handler, and he was stopped with the nose of the oval just inches short of pay dirt. Vesling lunged through the line for the touchdown. Tannier's try through the line for two more. Halfback Bill Gross, who carried the ball on the kickoff to the Franklin goal line with Jimmy Mammolite returning to the Franklin 20. Franklin recovered its own fumble for a five-yard loss. Mammolite took a lateral from Wayman Smith but was tagged by the fast-charging Dragons on his own five for a 10-yard loss. Jack Cary punned to Vesling on the Franklin 25, setting the stage for the second Dragon score. Shattuck skirted left end for 15 yards to the Franklin 10. Erickson, sub fullback, slashed through the line for six yards to reach the six. Tannier then went over for a 10-yard gain. Vesling picked up four yards on the extra point and Warren was ahead, 18-0.

Another pass interception, this time by Chuck Reese, gave the Blue and White possession of the oval on the Franklin 28 in the closing minutes of the second stanza. Vesling and Nanny Castagnone failed to connect on two passes, but on the third try, Nanny hit Shattuck on Franklin 20. Another pass from Reese to Vesling gave Warren a first down on the 16. Reese's next aerial was blocked. Then Vesling flipped a beautiful aerial into the arms of Shattuck for a T.D. Erickson missed the try for the extra point, and the half ended seconds later with Warren ahead, 19-0.

Franklin's best bid for a score came in the third on a smooth aerial attack, with Mammolite doing the pitching, that carried the Red Shirts on six consecutive first downs all the way from the Franklin six to the Warren 27. But once again, a pass by Mammolite was intercepted by Castagnone on the Warren 25 to end the drive.

By this time, both teams were playing a wide open game, with plenty of aerial work. The Dragons also were successfully employing their uneven leading-style spread formation that has upset the appetites of so many schools. The Franklin squad, and the spectators too, appeared completely befuddled by these unique maneuvers in which regular linemen frequently lugged the ball for good yardage.

A football oddity cropped up in the fourth period when Cary attempted a punt, but the ball shot straight up in the air, bounced back onto the gridiron and was recovered by Warren three yards behind the Franklin scrimmage line.

Attending to the alert pass defense displayed by the Dragons, it was another pass interception in the final stanza that started the Warren eleven on its final touchdown march. Vesling snagged one of Mammolite's aerials on the Franklin 46 and reached the 42 before being brought down.

Then Vesling faded back and flipped a long, breathtaking pass to Bob Brumagim, who only had to step over the final stripe for the score. Erickson's attempt for the extra point was no good, making the score, Warren 25, Franklin 0.

Warren Bulldogs and Butler Granted Franchises in The All-American Cage League

Wheeling, W. Va., Sept. 20—(AP)—Warren and Butler, Pa., were granted franchises in the All-American professional basketball league yesterday.

Seven clubs now are set to play this season. The others are Wheeling, W. Va.; Dayton and Youngstown, O.; Altoona, Pa.; and Cumberland, Md.

Contingent upon the acceptance or rejection of several pending applications, league officials drafted a tentative schedule. Among the teams which have applied for membership are Clarksville, W. Va., and Johnstown, Pa.

Commissioner Chuck Davies said final plans of the league will be drafted at a meeting in Pittsburgh Oct. 9-10.

Ridgway Tops Sheffield By 18 to 0 Score

A surprisingly strong Ridgway team hung an 18-0 defeat on Sheffield High School gridgers at Ridgway Saturday afternoon.

Three long drives from mid-field produced three six-pointers, more in the second stanza and two in the final stretch. Halfback M. Paoello notched two of the scores, while Fullback Stephenson racked up the third.

Sheffield penetrated deep into Ridgway territory in the first period, but the drive ended when an attempted field goal from the 25-yard stripe was wide.

Lineups:

Ridgway: Jones, Benson, Johnson, Haumeaser, S. Ehrenhauser, Sch. Ehrenhauser, Moldovan, Rudolph, Slack, Young.

Sheffield: C. Paoello, Capello, J. Maum, Mullen, Hoover, Thompson, Michael, M. Paoello, Rumbaugh, Stephenson.

Corry Beavers Swamp Eagles In Night Tilt

Corry High Beavers rebounding from a 19-7 defeat at the hands of the Warren Dragons a week ago, jumped on Youngsville High with a vengeance at Corry Friday night and lashed the Eagles, 46-19.

Halfback Jack Crawford registered three of Corry's touchdowns, one on a 55-yard runback of a punt in the third period, and two on 20-yard gallops. Art Pittz bucked the line for two six-pointers and Bob Long and Fran Buell each counted one T. D.

Youngsville tallied once in the second and twice in the fourth, with Barton, Brown and Warner getting credit for the scores.

Lineups:

Corry: Van, Ireland, Wetmore, Gordon, Sherwood, Schrader, Elston, Ottaway, Crawford, Long, Pittz.

Youngsville: Chappell, Maxner, Johnson, Gibson, Connor, Rockow, Carr, Warner, Borton, Brown, Freeborough.

Officials—J. Waples, referee; J. Massa, umpire; H. Rosequist, head linesman.

Red Jackets Shaded, 7 to 6, By Rival Jamestown Legion

Jamestown American Legion pro gridgers shaded the Warren Red Jackets, 7 to 6, in a hectic, hard fought battle before a large crowd on War Memorial Field Sunday afternoon.

The tilt was in the nature of a homecoming for the gridgers, with the Jamestown roster showing at least five former Jacket players.

By chance, it was a former local player, Frank Ponti, who booted the extra point which proved to be the margin of victory for the New Yorkers.

Other former Red Jackets wearing Jamestown uniforms included Vic Yanni, Gerry Stumpson, Jack Hine and Stu Barnes, the latter serving as acting captain for the victors.

Paul Pollock kicked his third and fourth field goals of the season to account for the Red Jackets six points. His first three-pointer was potted from the Jamestown 40 yard line, after three tries at the line failed to move the sticks. His second field goal was scored in the second stanza, with the pigskin travelling 35 yards. A third try for a field goal, just before end of the half was wide, and marked Pollock's first miss in five chances over a span of three games this season.

Jamestown came within an ace of scoring in the second frame when Bob Carlson, standing on the Jackets' 30, tossed a pass to Hall on the goal line, but the ball slipped through his fingers.

The Legionnaires took the kickoff at the start of the second semester deep in their territory, and never relinquished the oval until slashes by John Gatto, and clever spot passing by Carlson featured the march. It was a pass from Carlson to Hall that gave Jamestown a first down on the Jackets' 16. Yanni picked up two yards through the line. Then Carlson hit Morris with a short aerial, with the latter getting away from one tackler and scampering over the goal. Ponti booted the extra-point to put Jamestown ahead for keeps, 7 to 6.

The Red Jackets rallied early in the fourth period, pounded hard on the door to touchdown land but the barrier did not open. A continuous march that started deep in Warren territory carried the Washington 10-8, Chicago 7-6 (second game 6 innings, darkness).

Jackets downfield to Jamestown's 20. Red Matkovich passed over the goal to Pollock, but the toss was a little too high. Then Matkovich knifed through the line for a first down on the nine yard stripe. Kiser on a reverse lost four yards. Jim Snyder gained the four yards back, and added another on the third down. It was fourth down for the Red Jackets with payoff still eight yards away.

Matkovich slipped a nifty pass to Kiser, who was out in the clear, but he stumbled just as he snagged the oval and could not keep hold of it. Jamestown took over the ball on downs, snuffing out Warren's victory candle.

COUNTY PARADE ENTRIES URGED

Russell, Sept. 20—Any organization, club, business or individual from Pine Grove, Elk, or Farmington townships who would like to participate in the Pennsylvania Week parade in Warren this Saturday, is asked to call on Pat Ferrie, of Russell, on or before Wednesday afternoon. A number of business men, organizations and farmers have been contacted and it is expected there will be number of floats entered from these townships. All people entering floats and wishing to go as a group will meet on Main street in Russell at 2:45 p. m. Saturday.

BAD CUTS

George Dale, 116 Elm street, was treated at Warren General Hospital for a bad cut on his left thumb yesterday. Mr. Dale was operating a power saw at his home, the saw blade fracturing the thumb bone and cutting about half way through the member. William Hadman, aged 10, of Warren RD 1, suffered a cut on the left feet which he struck with an axe while chopping wood.

BARBER SHOP MEETING

Members of the Warren Society of the Barber Shop Quartet Chorus are reminded of the meeting this evening at eight o'clock at the YMCA, and a large attendance is desired, since arrangements are being completed for two big activities in the near future—the Pennsylvania Week parade this coming Saturday, and the program to be staged here October 9th, by the society.

DEPARTMENT CALLED

The Russell Volunteer Fire Department was called out at 3 a. m. Sunday to a recently built camp owned by Delbert Anderson and located two miles east of Russell, on the Russell-Scandia road, and made one of the fastest runs in its history. The building was a complete loss, estimated at between $800 and $1,000. A large turnout of firemen was appreciated, although protecting nearby buildings was about all they could do, since the fire had a head start before it was discovered.

Chapter 3

IT was about three o'clock the next afternoon when Gay, hooded and clad in a sweater and dungarees, emerged from the house. Cathy followed her to the door, eyed her critically.

"Going riding?" Cathy asked. "Thought you'd had enough of horses the other day."

"That was the other day," Gay answered lightly.

Gay strode briskly to the corral gate, opened it and stepped into the enclosure. There were a dozen horses idling close by. A single horse, Gay noted that he was fully saddled. . . detached himself from the others and jogged forward. He stopped in front of her, nudged her. Gay patted the animal's neck. She looked about her quickly. . . there was no one else in sight. . . she caught up the reins, gripped the saddle horn and swung herself up astride the horse, wheeled him and rode out. She heard a voice yell, "hey, hold on there!"

"Where d'you think you're going with that horse, huh?" he spluttered breathlessly. He panted to a stop in front of her. Looked up, reddened and swallowed. "O-h, excuse me, Ma'm. Didn't know it was you. Reckon them pants o' yours fooled me."

"O-h," Gay said and laughed. "Were you going to ride her?"

"I was," the man answered. "But you go right ahead, Ma'm," he continued. "When you bring 'er back, all you hafta do is turn 'er loose in the corral. She'll be right there 'till I get around to tending 'er."

"Thank you."

Gay wheeled the mare. "O-h, Ma'm."

Gay reined in again, looked back over her shoulder. "Hear name's Molly," the puncher added. "She handles plumb easy and you don't hafta be afraid o' her none."

Gay nodded and jogged away. Presently they were in the open. Gay settled herself in the saddle, lightened her grip on the reins, nudged Molly with her knees. The mare responded, broke into an easy-gaited canter. They went downhill and the ranch dropped away behind them.

"There was no sign of George and Gay frowned when she thought of him. She wondered where he had gone, found herself scanning the range for sight of him. It was quite a bit later when Gay spied a distant gust of dust spiraling into the sky.

"That's George now," she heard herself say. "That's the dust from his horse's hoofs."

She experienced an inward glow of satisfaction at having overtaken him. The smile that appeared and hovered for a brief moment at the corners of her mouth reflected her satisfaction.

He hadn't made much of a fuss over her. . . that was a new experience for her: ever since she could remember, everyone had made a great to do about her, especially the men. With the years she had come to expect their attentions and admiration as something due her. She knew she was pretty. . . hadn't she always been told that?

GAY suddenly awoke to the realization that the mare had halted. She flicked the reins again and George's Molly dashed off again. But fifteen minutes' hard riding availed them nothing. . . the spiraling dust had disappeared and George was still undiscovered. She glanced skyward. . . there was a gathering of dark clouds directly above her. For a minute she debated with herself whether to turn back or go on. Stubbornly she decided to go on.

Gay stood up in the stirrups. She scanned the range again. Southward, probably a mile away, was a small building. She wondered if George had gone there.

There was a sudden clasp of thunder. . . it rolled over the equally suddenly blackened range with the frightening and breath-taking crash of massed cannon fire. The mare stiffened. . . a second peal of thunder made her scream with terror. She bolted away so suddenly that Gay was nearly thrown. She dropped the reins, never to regain them. frantically she threw herself forward, clutched at the saddle horn and gripped it grimly with both hands. Now the rain burst upon them. It pelted them unmercifully, with huge raindrops that seemed and sounded like drumming hailstones. Gay bowed her head. In the blackness that obscured everything, the plunging mare tripped over a half-buried rock, fell to her knees, and Gay was hurled over Molly's head. Miraculously, she landed on her hands and knees and sprawled out on her face, breathless and stunned.

Molly struggled to her feet whimpering. She hobbled over to Gay's side, nudged her pleadingly. There was no response from the prostrate Gay. The mare turned away reluctantly. Looked back once or twice, then she limped away into the enveloping darkness. Probably ten minutes later Gay stirred. She opened her eyes. She sobbed brokenly, hysterically, climbed to her feet, panting for breath. She turned quickly, looked about her frantically.

"Molly!" she gasped. "Molly!"

There was no answering whinny, no hoof beat to reassure her that she was not alone. . . there was nothing but the drenching downpour and the swirling rain-laden wind that lashed her and stung her. She stumbled away blindly. The wind whipped her wet hair about wildly. She tripped and fell, scrambled to her feet, stumbled and fell again. . . she got up and forced herself on. She walked and ran and plodded ahead, half blinded by the rain and the wind. How she ever managed to reach the cabin, she never knew. She fell against the door, it yielded when she turned the knob and she fell inside. She struggled to her knees, twisted around and managed to slam the door shut. She sobbed again weakly and brokenly, sagged and suddenly toppled over in a limp heap.

Chapter 9

PHIL MARTIN huddled within his rain-soaked jacket and its soggy upturned collar. His hat brim was shapeless beneath the downpour, his pants were drenched and his boots were waterlogged. His equally rain-soaked horse plodded along wearily. . . he was too worn and winded to go any faster and Phil was too much annoyed with things in general to care.

He rode on for a time in silence, a bulky figure with a bowed head. His weary horse stopped suddenly, and Phil's head jerked upward. Fifty feet ahead of them was a dark structure.

"What in time. . ." Phil muttered. He jerked the reins sharply. "Go on!"

The horse broke into a trot. Presently they pulled up in front of the building and Phil dismounted stiffly. He trudged to the door.

He poked his head inside, but it was too dark for him to see anything. He stepped into the shack, stopped when he stumbled over something that lay on the floor. He drew back warily, whipped open his jacket, loosened his gun in its holster. . . he dug into an inside pocket, produced a match. The phosphorous head scratched against his thumb nail and flared. Phil's eyes ranged downward and widened almost instantly. . . on the floor lay the huddled figure of a girl.

"Holy cow!" he whispered in awed tones.

He stepped a bit closer and bent over. It was Gay Hollis. There was a shadeless lamp standing on a shelf directly opposite the door; he strode over, tripped the wick, touched the match flame to it and it flamed with a sputtering light. Phil closed the door quickly. He whipped off his hat and jacket, slung them aside, instantly the lamp on the floor just beyond the exhausted Gay. He knelt down beside her.

"Hey!" he said, touched her arm. "Hey!"

There was no response from the girl. He turned her over gently on her back. She was breathing and he felt relieved. He raised his eyes. There was a wide bunk at the far end of the shack and a folded blanket lay at the foot of the bunk itself. He slid his left arm under her, his right arm under her legs. . . he lifted her easily, carried her to the bunk and started to lay her down. He frowned in thought for a moment, finally shook his head.

"Nope," he muttered. "Can't put 'er down the way she is. Gotta get them wet thing o' hers off first."

He caught up the blanket, opened it and spread it over her. Then he knelt down, fumbled underneath the blanket and managed to compel the unbuttoning of her dungarees. He slipped his left hand under her body, used it as a lever and raised her. . . presently he slipped off the dungarees, pulled them out from under the blanket and straightened up again. He looked around the place. There were a couple of up-ended boxes beyond the door. He strode over, draped the wet dungarees over one box and retraced his steps. Again he bent over her, remembered that she was still wearing her boots. . . after some more fumbling under the blanket he removed them, put them down on the floor. He eyed her sweater. That was going to prove even more difficult than the dungarees.

She kissed him softly, gently. Phil was mute. . . he knew he should have said something, perhaps done something, but he was incapable of either. Her arm came down again, but she did not move away. There was no explaining what followed. Whatever it was, Phil surrendered to it, whispered urgings, whinnies, even eagerly. She ran her fingers through his wet hair, then she sank down and drew him down with her.
